Native Early Childhood Education

College Diploma Program

The Native Early Childhood Education (NECE) program in partnership with St. Clair College is compliant with the provincial Early Childhood Education Program Standard and incorporates additional Aboriginal-specific components throughout the curriculum including Aboriginal culture and language.

Graduates are uniquely prepared to address the culturally specific needs of First Nations communities, working directly with young children and their families and as members of multi-disciplinary teams.

NECE DIPLOMA

The NECE program provides the student with the opportunity to develop the knowledge and skills needed to educate young children in both Native and non-Native settings. A combination of theory and its practical application in the field equips graduates with the knowledge and experience to excel in the profession. Job security and opportunities for career advancement are attractive characteristics of the field of Early Childhood Education.

Employment opportunities include:

- Child Development Centres
- Cultural Teachers
- Family Daycare
- Kindergarten Classrooms
- Elementary School Educational Assistants
- Ontario Early Years Centres

MISSION STATEMENT

The Anishinabek Educational Institute is mandated by the Anishinabek Annual General Assembly (Resolution 94/13), to provide quality education and training programs for the Anishinabek.

The Anishinabek Educational Institute will provide community and culturally based programming which will better prepare the student for success in an ever changing world.

The mission shall always be by and for Anishinabek. At our pleasure, at our pace, and by our own standards.

Forever to the Seventh Generation.
